the extirpation of contagious bovine diseases as the exigencies of the times demand, the feeling is everywhere one of satisfaction over the good results attained by the friends of the cattle industry-from congress. The department of agriculture in which ample powers are concentrated under the direction of Commissioner Colman and Dr. Salmon of the bureau of animal industry, is making wise and systematic efforts to stamp out pleuro-pneumonia wherever it exists in the states. Harmonious relations having been established by the department with the live stock commissioners of Illinois, the work now going on at Chicago is of the best quality and will, without doubt, soon rid that plague spot of disease. The stockmen can feel from this time on, since the west, through the state and territorial legislatures, has become reasonably protected from the pleuropneumonia contagion, that the supplemental labors of the government officers will now give us nearly absolute protection. This is a source of great satisfaction to all. Yet, is should not be forgotton that in order to extirpate beying di cares in this country and forever rid the land of them, congress must at the next session be asked to make a large appropriation, thus enabling the department of agriculture to do the work of stamping out pleuro-pneumonia most effectually. Work to this end cannot begin too soon or be continued with too much earnestness.
